It also appears that, wherever the incumbent is not resident, his place is supplied by a resident curate, except in very few cases where from difficulties hitherto insurmountable it has not been found practicable to provide a church or glebe-house.

It may also be remarked, that in various cases where the incumbent is resident, there is also a resident curate.

GENERAL REMARKS.

OF many of the clergy, who are here returned as not residing on their benefices, it will be seen that many are virtually resident. In all cases of real absence, their places are supplied by licensed curates. In several cases where the incumbent does not reside, the value of the parish is very small, and insufficient for the support of a clergyman.

GENERAL REMARKS.

IN all cases when the incumbent is not resident, his place is supplied by a curate. In several cases where the incumbent does not reside, the value of the parish is very small, and insufficient for the support of a clergyman.
